Kristin M. Fox, Founder & Principle, FoxInspires LLC

Kristin M. Fox is the Founder and Principle of FoxInspires LLC, a firm specializing in providing unbiased investor education. FoxInspires provides access to intelligence and information, which helps investors and managers understand each other better and assists them in making wise choices based on that knowledge. FoxInspires' clients include hedge funds, ultra-high-net-worth investors, institutional investors and wealth management advisers. FoxInspires was formed in August of 2008.

Previously Kristin was Vice President of News & Research, as well as Executive Editor for HedgeWorld. Kristin was responsible for building the news and research at HedgeWorld, which was sold to Reuters in 2005. Her responsibilities included all aspects of the daily news, and any publications and other information products affiliated with HedgeWorld.

Prior to joining HedgeWorld, Kristin was an editor for Crain's Pensions & Investments, where her duties included editing and producing P&I Daily. Before her tenure at Crain's, Kristin was President of Hedge Fund Research, Inc., Chicago, Ill.

Kristin was a journalist for more than 20 years, and for part of that time, she was an economics columnist for Associated Press. She has also written for Tax Avoidance Digest, the Financial Times, Architecture Magazine and many other publications. She is also a board member and oversees the Chicago activities of 100 Women in Hedge Funds. Kristin holds a B.A. from North Park College in English Literature and Philosophy.

Pat Gillman, Seyfarth Shaw LLP

Pat Gillman practices with the national law firm of Seyfarth Shaw LLP, focusing on alternative investments. She creates hedge funds, commodity pools and private equity funds, both domestic and offshore, for her clients and counsels investment advisers, commodity trading advisers and commodity pool operators on registration, compliance and other regulatory issues. Pat also reviews fund documents for pension plans, endowments, foundations and high net worth individuals considering an investment and negotiates side letters for these prospective investors. She's a 12-year veteran of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

Pat received her B.A., cum laude from Smith College, an M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania and her J.D. from Georgetown University Law Center.
